Trick or Treat

October-Breast Cancer
Awareness Month

Hurricane season is only a little half-way over; high winds and lightning can cause power outages. If your service is interrupted TECO has the following helpful tips:

-Report an outage @ tecoaccount.com. You will need (1) your phone number, (2) 12- digit account number or 6- digit meter number; both are found on your monthly billing statement. You may also Text Out to 35069 or call (877) 588-1010 to report your outage at any time.

-Visit TECO's Outage Map for the cause and restoration status of an outage. This colored coded information is updated every 5 minutes.

-Visit TECO's Safety page for more preparedness and safety tips. The better you plan, the better off you and your family will be when a storm hits.

-Update your account, by updating the number associated with your account, the reporting system can recognize you.

-Happy Halloween, if you prefer not to participate in the Halloween tradition of handing-out candy on Wednesday, 31 October leave your porch light off. Most trick or treaters are off the streets around 9 PM.

Christmas Decorations

-Our landscaper has been notified that Christmas decorations are authorized in the bed areas only (trees and bushes) beginning the day after Thanksgiving through 15 January. There will be no trimming of bushes and/or trees during this this time. NOTE: Lawn decorations inhibit the ability of the landscapers to mow and could harm the lawn. Owners are encouraged to isolate holiday decorations to the "beds" only.

Joke of the month: Last week Putin received a coded message, reportedly from the Ukrainian Parliament. It reads: 370HSSV 0773H

Putin was stumped and asked his prime minister what the message could mean. The minister was totally stumped too, so he passed it on to the top Russian programmer, who spent 2 days trying to decipher it. Knackered, the programmer sent it to the Secret Police. The Director of the Police suggested to Putin to turn the message upside down...

Happy Birthday to all celebrating a birthday and or special occasion during the month of October
